

SONY CINEALTA F55

The new Sony F55 Cinealta comes with more frame rates, more operating features, and more recording options. This camera features an 8.9MP Super 35mm image sensor, which is capable of capturing 4K, 2K, and HD resolution video. The F55 is among the first digital cameras with a global shutter. Its highly modular design includes a digital interface allowing for a variety of optional view-finders. The native FZ mount provides an interface auto focus servo zoom lens as well as a wide range of lens adapters. The F55 was designed as the foundation of a versatile, flexible system.
